The Madeira School

1952 Yearbook

Greenway, Fairfax County Virginia

Dedication

To MISS STOCKBRIDGE, who has patiently guided us through the mysteries of physics and chemistry, and has taken such an interest in every phase of school life, we, the class of 1952, affectionately dedicate our yearbook

FANNY C. STOCKBRIDGE

Miss Madeira's Letter

The class of 1952 inherited good government from the class of 1951. The class of 1952 has gone on with this good government, has added much to it, making this a very rare year in the history of the school. The school has been in such good shape that we have had time to enjoy each other, which is saying much. I can't help but say, "Haven't we had a good time together." And this is because we have had time to have a good time being together.

Here's the picture of this fat old nocker player - some day she'll be thin!

This philosopher meeting is getting almost too deep for me. But that meeting is great!

I'm really going to stop in some day in Dover and eat New England baked beans.

Have a great time at college and sing and ride - Best luck!

Class Poem

What a timid, fragile thing
Is early Spring
That creeps from dark, moist earth to sappy bough
And spreads its tingling blushes
On bare bushes,
Coaxing dead things everywhere to wake and grow.

Then as the daffodil appears
And jaunty spears
Of gleaming grass parade before the sun,
Spring laughs with gay elation
At her creation
And frolics o'er the earth in gleeful fun.

Why must her gay naiveté
Then fade away
Like aery blossoms withered in June heat?
All that moves in time and space
Has a place
To fill and long-appointed time to meet.

The Sophomore Class

"All sophomores report to the gym immediately to set up church!" How many times we've heard that cry echoing down the halls on Sunday afternoons, followed by the inevitable anguished reply, "But we did it last week!" Usually we've wanted to throttle the entire class for disturbing our valiant attempts to study, but as the end of the year approaches we begin to realize how we'll miss the bedlam when we're gone.

Along with their remarkable capacity for making noise, the sophomores have been equally outstanding in every other field. They first began to show their stuff in athletics when Tolie, Lyn, Kitty, and Julie all made the hockey squad. At the same time Sharon and Sue, the sophomore members of first riding team, were wearing out their boots trudging to and from the stables. With the advent of basketball season, Kitty and Tolie were again right up in front on squad, along with Bev and Connie Fisher. After such a beginning, the school is looking forward to seeing the sophomores really go to town with tennis racquets and softballs this spring, as well as to counting the ribbons Sharon and Sue collect in the Intercollegiate Horse Show.

Along artistic lines the sophomores have been just as successful. The inhabitants of Second Floor Main, at least, can testify to their musical proficiency, having been constant listeners either to Anne Morris playing the piano downstairs, or to Drew and Ellen strumming away on their ukes just overhead. And we were very pleasantly surprised at the first recital to find we have a flutist in Kitty Ohl! In the Art Studio is further evidence of artistic ability—Elsie, Aldis, Punkin, and Nellie are only a few of those who are adept at wielding a paint brush.

The real proof of talent, however, came on the eighth of March, when the sophomore class gave the rest of the school a "passport to Paris." We can't say enough about that wonderful party—Sharon's clever script and songs, Bev's dances, or the realistic backdrop painted by Anne Morris, Suzette, and Reni, to mention a few. We never knew Connie Fisher, Celia Faulkner, Ceci Lombard, and Kitty Ohl were such excellent actresses, and, of course, we mustn't forget Tolie's singing, Pris Kenney's lovely costume, or Nellie's now-famous, "Looking at ze diamond is not always—how you say?—stealing eet!"

Then there is that large group of geniuses—or is it "geniae," Miss Baker?—who complain of a 90 on the last Latin test. Rise, day girls, and take a bow. What? someone's missing? Oh, it's just Sonny, who seems to be at St. Paul's.

Aside from their amazing success in everything they undertake, the sophomores are famous for a few more things. We wonder if Barbie Nixon's room will be filled with roses on the first day of school for the next two years. Some people have all the luck! Mary, did you ever get that harmony lesson in on time? And what's this passion for racing cars, Reni? "Of course we breed Bulgarian wolfhounds in Texas! We have everything in Texas!" Surely you don't need to be told that Lee's just around the corner. We'll never forget the momentous day when her hair was cut! We always seem to see Gail Shaw accompanied by several sailors on Sundays—and we hope that Chrissie will get that overdue letter from John, so the rest of us can get some sleep! "I just know there's something wrong with that post-office!"

On the whole, sophomores, we think you have a pretty terrific class. It won't be long before you'll be taking long weekends, and alarm clocks in study-hall will be a thing of the past. You have a lot to look forward to, but a lot to look back on as well. So don't hurry too much as you set up church these last few Sundays. This year has been merely a sliver of time that has slipped by almost without being noticed, but you'll remember it as one of the best.

Dear Pam,

It has been heaps of fun to have you in the house this year. (Don't worry, I won't make any allusions to —!) What a help you have been at the houseparties in making the songs sound nice. Don't ever give up your music.

About the Freshmen

They looked like a pretty bewildered group when they first arrived, but that bubbling energy that comes with youth couldn't be kept under control for long, and this peppy young group of scholars was soon as much at home as the old girls. It seemed only a few days before they had developed that perennial difficulty of all Maderia students—you know what we mean—getting to bed on time at night and getting to breakfast before the second bell in the morning. Just like the rest of us, they began haunting the bell-maid's office on weekends, and wondering why the proctor was giving them such a dirty look. After all, the freshmen are such innocent little things!

However, we soon discovered that they didn't spend all their time thinking frivolous thoughts, for they turned out to be quite a talented class. For instance, there were those two whizzes at hockey, Mary Kuhn and Betsy Gilmor, who ended up on squad. Then dramatic talent was revealed when they gave the Christmas play. Nan Robinson, as Zachrey, and Barbara Knight and Betsy, as the children, really wowed us!

The freshmen proved to be more and more athletic, for we learned that Mary was a really terrific tennis player, while Sheila Stoddard and Sally Perkins were among the riding fiends, with Sheila making the Intercollegiate Horse Show team. As a matter of fact, all those day girls seem to be pretty proficient horsewomen—we can't forget Debby Owen on Acorn in the drill, or Mariamne Dodek's chic black breeches! Along the administrative lines, we were not at all surprised to learn that Elenita Milbank had been elected president of the class, and Jane Casey, secretary. Janie Slempe and Nan proved to be budding pianists, and, on the lighter side, Gail Grant became noted for her sophistication, and Chachie Vincent and Jean Shevlin for what appeared to be a contest to see who could cut her hair the shorter.

The freshmen appear, all in all, to be a very promising class, and we hope we won't sound too trite if we wish them lots of luck in the three years to come.

Hi Shorty!!!

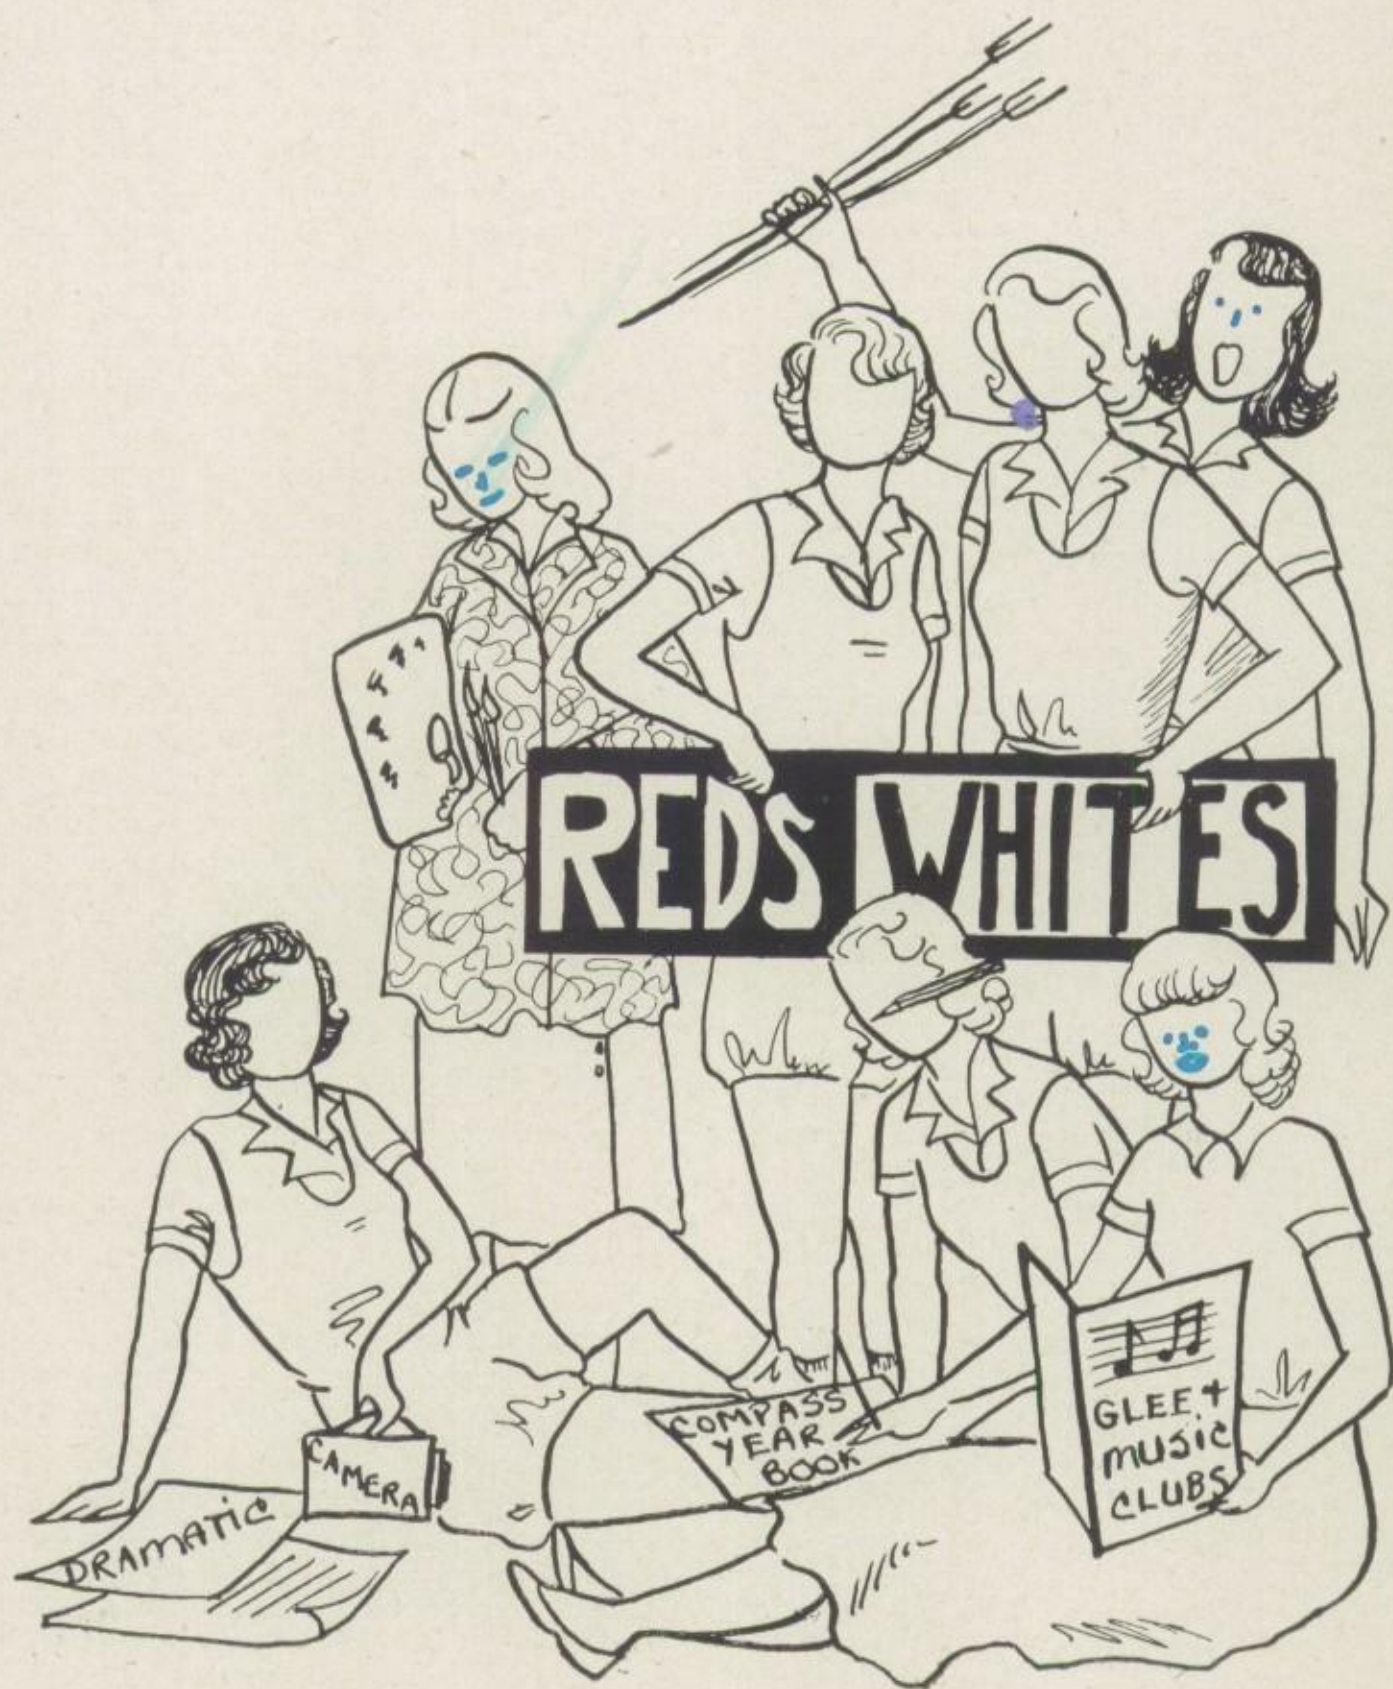

Nice riding in the horse show!

I can't think of anything to say except that I love Miss Rex for graduating you. Just kidding. Really I'm going to desperately miss having someone shorter than me around!

lots of love, Debby

Organizations

Organizations

As soon as the familiar clink of knives against glasses has subsided, we'd like to say a few words. No, we aren't announcing another meeting, but meetings are connected with our subject—the Madeira organizations. In our opinion, the various clubs have been unusually active and interesting this year. A great deal of the credit must go to the officers, whose ideas and initiative have led the way, but most of the year's success has been due to the enthusiasm and cooperation that the entire school has shown.

The most important organizations are the two Student Government Associations, on which nearly all the discipline of the school is based. Mimi and Janet, with their fellow officers, have done a fine job of maintaining last year's high level and keeping us all under control, a task often anything but easy—especially during second study-hall! Student Government has earned our respect and gratitude this year by making the school a better place for everyone.

Is there anyone who isn't familiar with School Welfare? One of the Board always seems to be on the scene with outstretched palm, just when we're saving our pennies for that big weekend. If we've been rather uncooperative about writing checks at such times, however, it's not because we haven't been aware of the good work Social Welfare does by contributing to so many worthy causes. One of the worthiest of those causes, naturally, has been Fruit Closet. We don't know whether it brought any profits to Social Welfare this year, but it has brought a few added pounds to most of us, which we would willingly donate to any poor starving Armenians if Thayer could arrange it. The Board proved that its abilities are not limited to collecting money in its annual party. Robin Hoodsky and his Comrades put distribution of wealth in such a favorable light that we'd gladly join the fun if we only had some wealth to distribute.

This year the Affairs and Affiliations Committee, formerly part of Social Welfare, was made a separate organization under Kitty Jarvis and Diana Marsh. Kitty and Swamp have kept up a lively correspondence with our affiliated school in Germany, and have been responsible for starting many new friendships between Madeira girls and students at the Schule Schloss Salem. At Christmas the Committee collaborated with the Early Morning Carolers to record a group of carols as a gift for the German school, and we were very impressed with the almost professional results.

Aside from recording carols, the Glee Clubs have been so active this year that we may have to use Morse Code to get everything in. In spite of a minor blizzard, they presented two successful performances of the Carol Service at Christmas, and during winter term they sang the score of "The Mikado" in long assembly, to the great amusement and enjoyment of the rest of the school. At the beginning of April we gave our own voices a rest and let the Johns Hopkins University Glee Club do the singing. After a marvelous concert there was dancing for the "young men" and the seniors—and the equally fascinating occupation of watching from windows for underclassmen! The Glee Clubs entertained again during spring term, and ended the year with some excellent singing at Senior Vespers.

The Dramatic Club, under the able direction of Jane Richards, has produced three plays this year. In November it gave the blood-curdling

"Monkey's Paw", followed by a hilarious short play, "Consolation", and in May the members presented their three-act play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." We now realize that the movie was hopelessly miscast—Hollywood should have called on Ansco, Marka, and Jane! Rehearsals may have been hectic, but the result was definitely a "hit".

"Music hath charms," they say, and we can't help agreeing, because the Music Club has charmed many of us into completely forgetting our weekend assignments with its Friday evening record sessions. After a rugged week nothing could be pleasanter than to relax in the library and listen to good music! The piano students have also given three excellent recitals, and for those who want more than Madeira talent, there are always concerts in Washington.

The Art Club members have produced some fine paintings this year, despite the frequent disappearance of edible portions of still-lives. In the fall several girls had pictures shown in a county exhibit, and since then Mrs. Weaver has taken her students to galleries and lectures in town, as well as on several wonderful sketching trips. The art exhibit at the end of the year was ample evidence of all that these artists have accomplished. We might add that our photographer was particularly impressed by the Art Club—though whether the impression came before or after he sat on a palette, we aren't quite sure!

For those who like pictures, but not paint, there is the Camera Club. Officers Georgia and Easy conducted two contests this year, with prizes for the prettiest, funniest, and most-typical-of-school-life pictures, and enthusiasm reached such a peak that one sophomore nearly fell out of a window in her overwhelming desire to get that shot.

The Compass has taken a new lease on life with Anne Fitch as its editor. Despite the handicap of having the material frequently lost somewhere between Fitchie and the printer, the Board has put out five lively editions, with Loie's clever illustrations adding an amusing new touch. The Compass did not give its annual party because of a surplus in its treasury, but the Yearbook's "Universal Rangers", who were less comfortably off, took the school through time and space in its search for the vicious "Wheezlesnatcher". After October the actions of the Yearbook Board were shrouded in secrecy; however, those wishing to write any member this summer may send their letters to the Sunnyside Rest and Convalescent Home.

As usual, athletics flourished at Madeira this year. With our long-dreamed-of stables at last a reality, and another undefeated hockey season on our record, neither flu nor bad weather have succeeded in destroying our fun, and the Athletic Association has furthered inter-school relations by meeting with A. A. officers from other schools. And for those who want nothing more vigorous than a brisk walk, followed by a good meal, the Outing Club has fulfilled their every need with weekly hikes and cook-outs at the Point or Cabin. A glance at the club picture will show the extent of its popularity!

If we only had time we could go on indefinitely about each organization, but, unfortunately, we have to run. There's a meeting at 7:00 and a rehearsal at 9:00, which means we'll have to memorize our parts in the play during study-hall. If there's any time, it's a good idea to glance at an assignment now and then, but take our word for it—the Madeira organizations are so interesting and so much fun that you simply can't afford to miss a thing!

Calendar Of Events

September

- 23—Seniors return with inflated egos.
- 24—Rest of school arrives. Egos begin to deflate.

October

- 10—English grammar test. Mrs. Tate tickled pink by results.
- 27—Yearbook Party. The Universal Rangers get their man!

November

- 3—Juniors conduct us through a Halloween Chamber of Horrors and then revive us with—food!
- 17—Final Red-White hockey game. Red Arabs very impressive, but White team cooks their duck.
- 21-25—We offer thanks in many different ways.
- 30—Dramatic Club presents “The Monkey’s Paw” and “Consolation”.

December

- 5—Special grammar class for those who are interested in graduating in June.
- 7—Piano recital.
- 8—Hockey Banquet. Squad celebrates season’s end with fitting “humility”.
- 16—Christmas Play. Nice work, freshmen!
- 18—Carol Service. We function in disaster again.
- 19—The blizzard abates, and we cancel our dogsled reservations in favor of planes and trains.

January

- 8—We return to rest up for the next vacation.
- 12—Seniors take S.A.T.’s—the beginning of the end.
- 16—The Criles show movies of their underwater adventures. Lovable as sharks may be, we’ll take goldfish!

February

- 4-8—Exam Week. “O sleep, O gentle sleep . . .”
- 16—Social Welfare Party. Robin Hoodsky inspires us all to be generous, and the “Rabid Foxes” try to dance like “Mutts” in “Manhattan Tower”.
- 27—More disaster in which to function—school quarantined for flu.
- 29—Yale Junior Prom. Madeira students enjoy movie in gym.

March

- 8—Sophomore Party. Magnifique!
- 12—Glee Club sings 'Mikado' in long assembly.
- 15—College Boards and more S.A.T.'s. Who wants to go to a major college anyway?
- 19—We go forth to the outside world again after a century in isolation.

April

- 2—The fortunate ones return from the South well-done on all sides. The rest of us look more haggard than ever.
- 5—Concert and dance with Johns Hopkins Glee Club. Yo for the Black and the Blue!
- 18—Modern dancers present "An American in Paris." Who wants Gene Kelly?
- 26—Madeira plays host at Virginia School and College Horse Show. A boating meet would have been more timely!

May

- 2—Dramatic Club presents "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." A rousing cheer for the cast and orchids to Jane!
- 12-16—Exams. Haven't we been through this before?
- 16—Miss Madeira's birthday celebration.
- 17—Horse Show. Riders give marvelous performance, but we're still waiting to see Miss Madeira take part!
- 24—Junior Party. It's still a mystery, but with your class, Juniors, it's bound to be great!
- 28—Class Day. Congratulations, new officers.
- 31—Senior Banquet. Who's that under the table?

June

- 1—Senior Vespers.
- 2—Graduation. It's hard to say good-bye, but thanks to the Kaisers for making it as easy as possible.

Stamina Counts

. . . yes, stamina plus skill, and the physical ability to "take it and give it." That's why most athletes keep so fit . . . eat nourishing, vitamin-rich foods. And most of them drink plenty of milk.

Here in Washington is a nutritionally-improved milk . . . CHESTNUT FARMS SEALTEST VITAMIN 'D' MILK. Each quart is fortified with 400 added units of precious Vitamin 'D'. And it is homogenized . . . each drop has its full share of rich, nourishing cream. You are sure to like its creamy, delicious flavor.

America's most unpremeditated summer resort!

Air conditioned tree houses!

Piped-in music!

Quiet, pine-shadowed waters, silent and still—except for occasional explosions.

Swimming—Riding—(if you can catch the horse) Canoeing—Sailing—Cruising—(and how are you with a hand bilge pump?)—Croquet—(get rid of those inhibitions and let your lower nature take over!)—Dancing—(do not apply for this unless sound in wind and limb.)

No mosquitoes, snakes, poison-ivy or other pests unless you include dogs, cats, small brothers and fellow guests in this category.

All this and worse offered by C. Kaiser, operator of the San Juan Island's least exclusive summer resort. Continuous house-party all summer—all members of the senior class cordially invited. Advance reservations not required unless you want a bed; if you're that fussy, who wants you? Anyhow, when do you think you'd use it?

travel and communications directions

MAIL: Box 56, Deer Harbor, Wash.

PHONE: East Sound, Wash., 242. (This is not C. Kaiser's phone; She doesn't have one. This belongs to a local Inn where someone will come buckety-buckety over the hill to call C. K. It is therefore advisable to call person to person.)

TELEGRAMS: Same as phone. Do NOT—repeat NOT—send telegrams to mail address—They come by slow freight or not at all.

BY CAR: See map; Drive to Anacortes; take ferry to Orcas Island. Start turning left when you leave the ferry and keep turning left until you find C. K.

BY PLANE: Phone Kurtzer Flying Service on Lake Union in Seattle and make a date to be flown up. He may question your sanity, but he'll get you there.

RATES: Occasional K. P. Rescuing a reckless cat from the sound, if necessary. Willingness to take things as they come—(and they will!)

CLOTHES: Old, unfadeable, imperishable, comfortable. High style will not be tolerated by the management!

Our sweet little opera singer, who flies around like a little bird. Do you really think you wouldn't give up singing for Roy? I bet you would. And then after driving everyone crazy in fourth off she goes to the stable and drives the horses coo-coo. Let me know what happens when you get back to Dover, England (honey-moon) Well anyway I'll be there always (I think) Peanut

P.S. on P.P.P.P.P.S. I can just see you and Roy. I have a good suggestion. When you get married, you can go out and live out west. There you can sing and play the ukulele while Roy writes out the ranch news. Then at night you can go out resting and work off all your extra energy!

 Energy? What Energy? Anyway there you are out under the stars and everything is romantic. Lo Pan starts singing and the horses run away as soon as she starts it up. Then back they walk for 20 miles.
 Romantic? Well not quite!!!! They get back and get in bed. Too tired for anything else. 5:00 the next morning and up they get or that is try to. Pan gets up and says lets be cheerful so she sings and making the blue berry muffins and flap-jacks and dish water coffee. Then suddenly from the bedroom comes a voice which says, Who let the frog in? Kill it and feed it to the cat. Lo Pan

Whee - what fun!

Here's a whole huge page to fill up!! So let's get under way:

It's going to be so odd without you - all here to vox our ears or pat our heads, as the occasion calls for. I hope you come back to see us later, even tho it does cost mints!

So many things have happened this year. Every thing from parties and horse shows to loony letters and crazy moods. You've taken a royal beating from all the filthy little underclassmen in South! I hope you survive!

Have a swell - elegant summer and a wonderful time at college. And please write me at least one letter!!

lots of love,
